INTERNATIONAL TRAINING COURSE

THE WORKING APPROACH OF THIS TRAINING:

---

The Agents of Change (AoC) is not the regular training you might be used to when it comes to non-formal education/Erasmus+.

We combine elements from formal education, non-formal and informal learning, as we find all of them purposeful when applied to the right context. We work from a perspective which unites learning by experience with coaching, as we believe that this supports the most the participants in their own development.

The training is here to challenge participants' perceptions, beliefs and assumptions and to settle themselves as people and leaders. Due to this approach, which focuses highly on the personal background of the participants, it might be emotionally intensive. It is so as we aim to create an impactful and useful process, by focusing on what is relevant on the participants' personal and professional life.

Therefore, the majority of the program will consist of activities for self-reflection, supported by some models and tools we find relevant and powerful.

The participants will explore, play and try out, so they can find their own conclusions. The training is there for people who want to work on themselves; therefore each participant is the creator of their own experience.

By doing so, participants will be able to develop the powerful capacity for self-coaching: the ability to bring yourself towards the results you want to achieve in life, while enjoying it.

We use a specific methodology, developed for more than over 10 years in a network of youth organisations, with a specific culture:

- We take each day as a working day with a length of 10 to 14 hours, including meals and breaks;
- For the majority of the training the program is pre-defined;
- Our activities stimulate participants to bring what is relevant for them, independently from whatever culture they come from; therefore, we will not use the traditional name games, icebreakers or intercultural evening activities.

- We will use for the most part a theatrical setting: specific room's settings, specific materials, music and we will have as a team a specific approach. We create the stage for participants to bring what is relevant for themselves and work it out.

TESTIMONIALS

To illustrate, here are some quotes from the participants of previous AoC training, which we organised in April/May 2018 in Hungary:

- "I was challenged and thrown out of my comfort zone on a daily basis but I've learned so much about myself, my strengths and my weaknesses. This was one of the best and most useful trainings I have participated in and I am able to trust myself much more after it."
- "Go there with an open mind, be there as the vulnerable and pure person you really are, leave the training empowered and thrilled to pursue your own goals."
- "It's a training to discover yourself in which you will check every part of your life that has shape you to understand the way you are now, and the way you behave to the others and after that you will practice all the competences learnt in real life."
- "If you want to go beyond your border and experience the unexpected, go for this training."

WHAT EXPERIENCE CAN YOU EXPECT?

AoC is divided into 4 main parts:

1. Self-Reflection (days 1 to 3) – During these days the participants will have the opportunity to get a better and deeper understanding on how and why they lead people and how this affects the results they obtain, and they can maintain what works and improve what doesn't. Shortly: the participants will have the opportunity to look into the relationship between beliefs, concepts, automatic behaviours, teamwork and decision making. They will do so through input, activities and reflection spaces.
2. Transformation (days 4 & 5) – The participants will have the space to create practical links between the previous days of self-reflection and their own working lives. They will have the chance to transform any personal insights into long-lasting professional competences with the support of tools and input coming from such fields as management and leading teams or project planning.

3. Outdoor / Submersion (days 6 to 8) – The best way to put knowledge from theory to practice is to practice in a real-life situation or context. Therefore, in small groups, the participants will have several assignments to complete in the local communities around the venue where they can put into practice the knowledge, skills and attitudes acquired throughout the previous days of the TC.
4. Integration & Closing (Days 8 & 9) – These last 2 days are there to wrap up the learning experience of the TC, in such a way that the insights can be taken home in a structured manner, to plan follow-up steps and close the TC together.
